

Course description

This is a year-long course to prepare you to pass the Cambridge First Certificate in English exam in December 2014, or as the first year in a two-year course.

Through the course you should learn new grammar and vocabulary, practice and receive feedback on your pronunciation, tone, vocabulary and fluency, and be given expert advice on passing the proficiency exam, whilst at the same time enjoying the classes.

Who is the course for?

This course is for people who want to pass the Cambridge First Certificate in English exam in December 2014 whilst also enjoying the course.

Core features and benefits

Specific experience: The teachers specialise in higher-level English and are native English speakers.

Material: The material used in class is varied between a coursebook and other authentic material derived from newspapers, magazines, music and radio.

Site: The location in Parque Rodó is comfortable, convenient and has full training facilities.

Learning with fun: As it always should be – there is an aim to enjoy and learn at the same time.

Certificate: Students receive a Cambridge International certificate if they pass the exam. A Eureka certificate is given as evidence of attendance and level of achievement for students who do not wish to sit the International Examinations.
